WALLER MAKES A STAKE.

Granted a Tract Fifteen Miles Square in Madagascar.

By a copy of the Madagascar News, published at Antananarivo, Madagascar, and mailed to the STATE JOURNAL from Marseilles, it is learned that John L. Waller is going to go into business for himself in that far-off land. The item says: "His excellency the prime minister and commander-in-chief of Madagascar has just granted to the Hon. John L. Waller, ex-United States consul for Madagascar, a concession measuring in area fifteen miles square, in the district of Fort Dauphin on the south-east coast and which is conceded to be one of the richest rubber districts in the island."

"The discovery of rubber in this district is of recent date; the article is of excellent quality and is found in large quantities throughout the district."

"The district also contains very valuable timbers such as ebony, mahogany, rosewood, teak, etc., and is admirably adapted to the cultivation of tea, coffee, vanilla, sugar, etc."

"Mr. Waller informs us that he will stop the destruction of the rubber trees and vines by the natives so far as his concession is concerned and preserve the product by having the milk extracted in a scientific manner."

"He will also enter largely into the cultivation of rubber upon his concession."

"This intention of Mr. Waller's is a step in the right direction and will add immensely to the value of the concession; which is by far the largest and most important surface concession ever granted in Madagascar and we congratulate Mr. Waller upon his success."
